The charge was proven against them, and it was also shown that they had "gone through" a number of saloons and behaved generally in a most outrageous manner. Their astonishment was indeed great when the magistrate, Justice Mills, said they would have to pay each a fine of twenty-live dollars. In a spirit of magnantmity towards them, and with an eye to the immediate augmentation of the funds in the city treasury, the Justice granted permission to one of the birds to fly to New York and procure the necessary funds. He made the round trip in a very short time, bearing with him the ransom-fees to the unfeigned joy of his incarcerated friend and brother. The trio went on their way rejoicing, declaring that when next they came to Jersey they would let its chain againing alone. Bird and Thomas M. Bird, brothers, and Thomas

LARGE FIRE AT PATERSON, N. J. One Entire Block of Buildings Destroyed-Loss $350,000—Several Hundred Operatives Thrown Out of Employment. About half-past one yesterday afternoon a fire broke out in a small building between Jersey and Mill streets, owned by M. J. Morris, and used as a storehouse for waste, and before the flames could b subdised nearly a whole block was destroyed, and over seventy families thrown out of a home, The splendid Murray Mill, one of the finest structures in the city, and owned by Mr. John Ryle, Mayor of Paterson, was reduced to ashes, as woll as from ten to fifteen tenement houses. The total less, it is estimated, will not be less than $200,001. The conflagration throws several hundred operatives out of work and has caused a deep feeling of gloom in the city for the condition of those who have suffered. The fire raged nearly four hours before it was finally subdued. The loss on the Murray Mill, which is occupied by the owner's silk works, is nearly $250,000, onjwhich there is said to be only $1,000 insurance. The muchinery was of the most limproved pattern, and had taken many years to collect. Messrs. Day & Co., who occupied the top story, lose about $50,000. Scarcely any of the tenements were lastred, and the loss on them will be nearly $50,000. Many houses a block away took fire from intense heat, but it was extinguished before much damage was done. It was probably the most disastrous confagration that ever occurred in Paterson. Mr. Ryle was absent from the city at the time, but the whole community heartily sympathize with him as he is universally respected. The splendid Murray Mill, one of the finest struc

This was accordingly done, and on examination the man's belief was apparently verified, he stating that deceased was a lunatic and had disappeared from home about three weeks since. Claiming the right of a brother, he took the body away without permission of the Coroner and against the remonstrance of the town authorities, who were aware that the District Attorney had ordered a post-mortem examination of the remains.

Fatal Care Accurent.—Last Sunday afternoon.

FATAL CAR ACCIDENT.-Last Sunday afternoon, Charles Kowing, a child six years of age, while riding with his brother, who was but a few years older, on car No. 6 of the Fordham avenue line, fell order, on car No. 6 of the Fordham avenue line, fell from the front platform, when both wheels passed over the little fellow legs, crushing them in a shocking manner. He was carried to his home on Alexander avenue, where he expired the same evening. Immediately after the occurrence, the conductor and driver of the car were arrested and subsequently admitted to bail by Justice Hauptman. Coroner Bathgate commenced an inquest on the body yesterday, which was not concluded at a late hour list evening. At five o'clock in the afternoon the jury reassembled, and further testimony was taken—that of parties who were on the car and on the front platform, from which the unfortunate lad fell. All the witnesses examined concurred in the fact that neither the driver, conductor or officers of the road were to blame, but that the boy by his own carclessness lost his life from failing or jumping from the car. A brother of the boy, a lad about nine years of age, testified that when he asked the driver to stop, he immediately attempted to stop the car, and halloed "whoa" to the noises. A verdict was rendered in accordance with the above facts. As soon as the board of directors of the company, who held a meeting yesterday afernoon, heard of the sad circumstance, they had placed in the conductor's room a notice that no children hereafter must be allowed to stand on the platforms of their cars while they are in motion, and it is to be hoped that this unfortunate accident may cause all other roads to adopt the same precaution.

MURDER IN CONNECTICUT.

Two Germans Stabbed-Oue Instantly Killed,

the Other Mortally Wounded.
On Sunday night, between eleven and twelve o'clock, a horrible tragedy happened at a German beer house, No. 26 Wallace street. New Haven, kept by Charles Detterman, which resulted in the death of a German named Louis Bench, and the terrible wounding of another German named Peter Ellanger. From a statement made by Ellanger soon after he was stabbed, and when it was expected he would soon die, it appears that he was standing about eleven o'clock in front of the beer house, where he and Bench lodged, when a man named George McVetey came along and asked him for his knife, which he gave him, and then McVetey seized him, threw him out into the streeet and stabbed him twice, once in the left side, so that the intestines protruded, and once in the groin. He was alive yesterday, but not expected to recover. While struggling with McVetey he called for help, and his friend, Louis Bench, came to his recover. While struggling with McVetey he called for help, and his friend, Louis Bench, came to his assistance, when McVetey stabbed him six times—twice in the oreast, one of which stabs reached the heart, making a horribic wound five inches long, twice in the lower part of the bowels, once on the left leg, just above the knee, and once in the shoulder. Bench waiked a few feet and fell dead.

McVetey then fied to his sister's, near by, at No. 6 Coilis street, where he changed his shirt and washed the blood from his hands, and then rushed out to make his escape from the officers of the law, if possible. It was thought that he took the steamer State of Maine for New York, and the police authorities of this city were notified, but they failed to find the murderer on board upon the arrival of the steamer. Two men were arrested, but neither of them was found to be the right man.

A story is afnoat in New Haven to the effect that a man was seen on Long Wharf about midnight endeavoring to wash something from his clothes. It is thought it might have been McVetey trying to wash the blood from his clothes. Other than this no traces of the murderer have been obtained. He is a man about thirty-live years old, smooth, full face, ruddy complexion, wore a dark suit, has a surily look, is about five feet eight inches high, broad shouldered and weighs about 180 pounds.

The tragic occurrence caused much excitement in New Haven, and during the day hundreds of citizens visited the Morgue, in the basement of the City Hall, to see the dead and mangled body of Bench. In the afternoon a rumor was in circulation to the effect that McVetey had been arrested in New York and would arrive in New Haven on the three P. M. express.—Three or four hundred people crowded into the depot to see the prisoner; but the story was found to be a hoax.

Ellanger says he never had any trouble with McVetey, and the reason for committing such a terrible deed remains a mystery. The sister and two brothers of flucters are how under arrest. The jury of inques jury of inquest will hear the evidence to-day.

The Cuban headquarters, at 71 Broadway, were thronged yesterday by adventurers who are auxious to join the Cuban patriot army, but the agent in charge of the rooms informed the applicants that no volun-teers were required, and that for the future the efforts of the Cuban Junta would be directed to sending money, munitions of war and medicines for the Cubans.

Sending money, munitions of war and medicines for the Cubans.

Yesterday afternoon the Spanish Consul in this city called at the office of Marshal Bariow, in Chambers street, to have an interview with him, but the General being absent he left.

District Attorney Pierrepont has received two letters from the State Department, directing him in all cases where he has proof that the neutrality laws are violated to take energetic measures to enforce those laws and punish their violators; and to particularly direct his attention to the matter of the alleged llegal fitting out and departure of the quaker City. The letters in fall will not be given to the public at present, but the foregoing is a statement of their points. District Attorney Pierropont will diligently endeavor to obtain proof of any violation of the neutrality laws, and on obtaining legal proof will lake proceedings instantly.

It is reported that the revenue authorities have received orders to post a cutter to watch the movements of suspicious vessels in the East river to prevent illusters leaving by the Heil Gate exit, and another cutter in the lower bay to guard the Sandy Hook exit. The former vessel took its station last night off the foot of Tenth street, in the vicinity of the pier where the suspected vessel quaker City is moored. All vessels attempting to leave the port at night will be overhauled, detained and their cargoes and papers examined.

Tammany Young Men's General Committee. The regular monthly meeting of this organization was held last night at Tammany Hall, the President, Mr. Joel A. Fithian, in the chair. There was quite a large attendance of members.

Mr. Algernon S. Sullivan offered the following pre-

BOARD OF HEALTH.

The Board's Tranquillity Disturbed-A Fracas Among Doctors—Quarantine the Trouble-Who Knows What Ship Fever Is?

When the Board of Excise terminated its brief light labors yesterday afternoon at half-past one o'clock the members thereof resolved themselves as usual into the Board of Health, with Mr. Lincoln for President, in place of Judge Bosworth, of the Excise Board. There was nothing particularly interesting in the early part of the proceedings. The minutes took as long to read as if they recited the doings in a session of the Convention that framed the na-tional constitution. Mr. Brennan looked like the month of May—all smiles and benevolent blushes.

Mr. Manniere cssayed a humorous remark every once in a while and bore himself with as much cheerful serenity as though he had the title deeds to a dozen corner lots in Paradise. The president, Mr. Lincoln, seemed to feel as if he could shake hands and make merry with every mother's son of Eve. Judge Bos-worth was evidently beyond the reach of any dis-seemed to feel as if he could shake hands and make merry with every mother's son of Eve. Judge Bosworth was evidently beyond the reach of any disturbing influence in mortal affairs. The caim, placid complexion of his brow was something a nervous man might envy. Dr. Stone appeared to see from his quiet, Justrons eyes, a horizon of nothing but gold and purple tints. Dr. Crane laid back in his chair and might have sighed to think that the happy reunions of the Board of Health, these pleasant weekly meetings at which it which it is delightful even to hear the very minutes read, must one day come to a final end. Dr. Smith was perhaps thinking after a similar strain. Dr. Swinburne, the Health Officer, was the only one across whose brow appeared to pass a shade of anxious care. Something was evidently on his mind that troubled not the rest, yet he langhed as heartily as the others when Manniere, in his testive manner, ventured on a subtle loke. Swinburne came late to the meeting. He had evidently arrived from Quarmatine and had a world of responsibility resting upon his thoughts. Taken altogether, however, it would be difficult for anybody in search of a happy family to alight on one more calmly contented, more serencely satisfied than that of the Board of Health as it appeared in the bright and genial May afternoon of yesterday at Mulberry sirect headquarters.

After the minutes were disposed of Mr. George S. Hastings amnounced that there had been 113 violations of the Health Board ordinances since the last meeting. The attorney of the Board was instructed to institute the customary legal proceedings.

The next thing was a report signed by Dr. Morris recounting the complaint of one Mr. Hogg against Mr. Sulzer, proprietor of the beer concern and shooting gallery in Jones' Wood. It was charged that Sulzer kept a shooting gallery were larged fring was practiced, to the imminent danger and annoyance of the Hogg family and others living in the neighborhood, and also that a good deal of irregular dancing was indulged in at

It was here the storm burst out that knocked to pieces the happy frame of mind which Dr. Stone had been indulging, destroyed the temper of Dr. Swin-burne and made the whole Board feel very uncom-

As far as I am personally concerned I have no objection to its adoption as thus amended, but I am constrained to say that it will prove in its practical operation an additional and unnecessary burden upon commerce by increasing the period of detention of vessels. Besides, I am unable to perceive that it makes any provision for guarding against the consequences which the Sanitary Committee were to consider, and which I understand are to be removed by the adoption of these regulamons.

Dr. Stone, who wrote the resolution, stood up to say that he could see no particular sense in the amendment, except that it left the Beard of Health without any jurisdiction in the premises and conferred all; the power and discretion on the Health Officer.

Pr. SWINBURNE said his amendment only differed from the resolution in being more explicit, better put together and more forcibly expressed. He thought the Board should be free from the captiousness that characterized one of its members. This resolution would hamper the Health Officer, Impair his usefulness and injure the interests of commerce. The law face which is quarantinable, as smallpox, ship fever, yellow fever and cholera. "WOMAN IN THE LYCEUM."

Lecture by Miss Kate Field. Miss Kate Fleid made her debut as an essayist in this city last night at the Union League theatre, corner of Madison avenue and Twenty-sixth street. The elegant house was crowded in every part by an exceedingly select, if not demonstrative, audience. The lecture, as the subject, "Woman in the Lyceum," would denote, consisted of a series of arguments adduced for the purpose of proving that ladies were justified in appearing upon the lecture platform. In commencing the lecturess said that any woman who undertook to deliver a lecture was considered unfeminine, and sometimes said to be a disgrace to her sex. A gentleman had said this to the speaker, and in answer to her question. Did you ever hear a woman lecturer? he had answered "No." in answer to another query as to whether he had ever known a woman lecturer, the gentleman had answered "No, thank God." The speaker had been tood that St. Paul had said no woman ought to speak in public, but where could the line be drawn? The prima donna might sing, church choirs might perform recitations. Should Fanny Kemble stop reading? But then the answer was that she was an actress, and St. Paul idd not mean to speak of actresses; he meant women were not to lecture. Miss Flesh dwelt at some length on the passage in St. Paul's writings above referred to, and claiming that in other portions of his epistles the Apostie had contradicted his own words Referring to the recommendations of friends as to her future career, the essayist; spoke of some advising her to write a book, some to write a play, others to become a reader, and yet, others to try acting. In reply to those who advised the latter Miss Fleid remarked that many persons when at their wits? ont to the characters, and of such actors and actresses there were not at present four in the whole world. To become an actor of such actors and actresses there were not at present four in the whole world. To become an actor of such actors and actresses there were not at present four in the whole world. To become an actor of such actors and actresses there were not at present four in the whole world. To become an actor of an actress many gifts were needed, such as dramatic talent, fine physique, good voice, taste in dress, an ear for music and an much more as nature and art would give. establishes a new principle of cure of all chronic diseases and proves to the medical world that consumption and all other scrotisions diseases are curable. This fact has been demonstrated in over one hundred cases of confirmed consumption, where one lung in over seventy cases was destroyed and dried up, and in over five hundred cases of suggested consumptions. samption, where one lung in over seventy cases was destroyed and dried up, and in over the hundred cases of suspected consumption.

In: Radway, three years since, published to the world his analysis of the blood in the several singes of consumption, and found that where toberoise became deposited in the same found that where toberoise became deposited in the constituents are constituents as form, abuneau, pales where the constituents as form, abuneau, pales and the rich red oldering discs of the blood corpusies. In the absence of these constituents as form, abuneau, pales where and the rich red oldering discs of the blood corpusies. In the absence of these constituents in the blood, the blood is exhausted of strength and nourishment, and wherever there is inflammation it deposits tuberoise and decayed matter. It has not the power to hold in solution its natural constituents, and ulcers, sores, tomors, cancers and virulent humors are formed, the presence of which causes inflammation, gathering and consequent suppuration. This reader, is the true cause of the formation of tuberoise and onesumption.

Dr. Radway was the first to advance this theory of the cause of consumption and its kindred diseases, and propared the Radway's Ressivent of supply the blood with such constituents in solution.

Dr. Radway's Theory was subblished in Radan, France.

CERTIFICATE OF BEAUTY.

The following letter is from a highly gitted lady, well known in the "circles of our best society."

I had not much confidence in your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. Having been disfigured for the last four months with blotches and pimpies I resolved, at all events, to try it and took two caspoonfuls three times a day, as directed. It is not quite one month since I commenced its use. To-day there is not a blotch, spot, blemish or defection of any kind on my person, "A young judy wishes you to send her a copy of your medical hour. FatEMONY, Jersey City Post Office.
